

ACTION

Copy/print one copy for every three students. Using scissors or guillotine, cut along the dotted lines to separate the Scenarios.

Aidan is a pretty good student and has his eye on going to Uni after high school to study Environmental Science. He loves the water and plays waterpolo in the school's senior boys' team. He works in a pool shop twice a week, which is handy because he's saving for a beach camping holiday this Christmas. School definitely seems harder this year than any time in the past, and Aidan finds he needs at least an hour or more every weeknight and a few hours every weekend just to stay on top of the material, let alone rehearse for the play he's going to be in! A Geography assignment is due next week that also needs attention. Mum has been gently hassling him to help clean out the garage, but Aidan keeps putting that off. His friend Dean is dead keen for some mountain biking this weekend.

OBLIGATIONS & DESIRES

School: Attendance weekdays 9am – 3pm
Homework: Daily, 1.5 hours bare minimum
Drama Rehearsals: Mon 3–5pm, Wed 3–5pm, Sat 9am – 12pm
Geography Project: 3 hours required
Waterpolo: Training Tue 6:30–8am,
 Thu 6:30–8:30am
 Match: Saturday 11am – 1pm
Daily: meals, showers, sleep, family
Work: Pool shop Thu 4–9pm, Sun 8am – 12:30pm
Mountain biking: Sunday afternoon
TV: News (nightly), sci-fi show Wed 8:30–9:30pm
World of Warcraft: Whenever possible!

Kayla is pretty happy with how things are going, but she wishes she knew what she will do when she finishes high school! She's pretty good at most subjects (except Maths!), which her mum says is very important. Kayla likes clothes (her mum owns her own boutique, and the offer to work there is ever-present). But both Kayla and her mum know she'll want to do more study. Maybe art college? Kayla loves painting, and wants her latest assignment to knock people's socks off. She is also a pretty good ballroom dancer – that and her running keeps her fit and happy. But dancing is a tough career ... Kayla has two or three close friends, but knows they don't invite her to as many things now she's become so busy. But she should be able to catch up with them all this Sunday!

OBLIGATIONS & DESIRES

School: Attendance weekdays 9am – 3pm
Homework: Daily, 2 hours
Math tutor: Tue 4–5:30pm, Thu 4–5:30pm
Art project: Due Friday, 6 hours required?
Dance: Classes Mon 7–9pm, Thu 7–9pm
 Social comp: Saturday 7–10pm
Daily: meals, showers, sleep, family
Work: Mum's shop all day Saturday
Running: Every day if possible, 30 minutes
Friends: After school, Sunday arvo movie and shopping?
TV: TV Soap 7–7:30pm weeknights
Reading: Trash mags and Stephenie Meyer novels

Chelsea knows exactly what she wants from life: for the band she fronts Dark Dahlias to conquer the world! Or at least attract a record label. In the meantime, she knows her parents are right and she should try and get some good school marks behind her. While guitar is her instrument, she also plays piano in the school band and regards this as useful practice. While music comes easily to her, no other subjects do and she knows she needs to study harder. She's let her book review for English slide and it's due next Monday! She's also let her fitness slide, and is determined to start at least walking this week, half an hour a day. She likes work at the music shop, the people are cool and she is saving for a new Washburn electric there that will kill! She enjoys late night SBSTV, when her mum lets her!

OBLIGATIONS & DESIRES

School: Attendance weekdays 9am – 3pm
Homework: As much as possible, I guess
Band practice: Tue 3–4:30pm, Thu 3–4:30pm
English essay: 5+ hours required
Band Performance: Saturday 11am – 2:30pm
Film & TV assignment: 3 hours
Daily: (meals, showers, sleep, family)
Exercise: I know, I know ...
Work: Music shop Thu 5–9:30pm, Sun 8am – 5pm
TV: SBS 8:30pm – late
Real Band Practice: Whenever possible!
Reading: Biography of Bob Dylan, 30 minutes daily
Song Writing: Late at night

